Frequently-Asked Questions from Clients and Attorneys

What types of cases do you fund?

Virtually any case in which someone (a) has been injured due to another insured party's negligence, (b) has provable injuries, and (c) has hired an attorney.

Is this a loan?

No, this is an advance on the future value of your case. Unlike a loan, if you lose your case, you owe us nothing in return!

Do I owe any up-front, out-of-pocket fees?

Absolutely not! All payments are due at the time the case is settled, and the check is issued by your attorney.

Is this expensive?

Even though we offer some of the lowest rates in the industry, legal funding advances are expensive when compared with many other forms of financing. Accordingly, we highly recommend that you first try less expensive resources (such as banks, credit cards, or family and friends) before trying our service. Think of our service as last-resort funding.

How long does it take?

After we receive your case information and if you are eligible, we can have your funding approval within 48 hours.

What can I use the money for?

You can use the money for any purpose; however, we do not endorse using it for frivolous or illegal purposes.

What happens if I lose my case?

You owe us absolutely nothing! The money advanced to you is yours to keep.

Can I receive money if I've already gotten money from another funding company?

Possibly. If your case has sufficient value, it will be considered.

Is my case information kept confidential?

Yes, this information is used only for evaluating your case for a financial advance. We do not disclose information unless directed by you, your attorney, or a lawful court order or subpoena.

What are the lowest and highest amounts you can get me?

If you qualify, in many cases, the minimum is $1,000 and the maximum is $1,000,000. The amount you qualify for is determined by the merits of your case.

Do you get involved in my case?

We do not interfere in any way with your attorney's handling of the case. All decisions pertaining to your case are made by you and your attorney.

Can you give me legal advice?

No. We are not attorneys and, therefore, cannot give you legal advice. We highly recommend you consult an attorney for any legal questions. We also advise you to inform your attorney of your desire to enter into this type of transaction.

Is this legal?

Lawsuit advances are perfectly legal. Because we take the risk of no recovery, courts have continuously upheld that lawsuit advances are not loans and, thus, are not subject to the parameters of loans.
